ABOUT END CITIZENS UNITED PAC

End Citizens United PAC (ECU) is dedicated to ending the tidal wave of unlimited and undisclosed money that has reshaped our politics and damaged our democracy.

ECU is a community of more than 3 million Americans dedicated to reforming our nation's broken campaign finance system and ending Citizens United. Our supporters are active and engaged in the political process as a progressive grassroots community dedicated to electing campaign finance reform champions.

Our strength comes from the power of many individuals standing together to call for change. We're proud to be supported by more than 300,000 donors across America who helped create a groundbreaking model that proved there's a way for the grassroots to compete with corporate special interests and billionaires.

ABOUT THIS SURVEY

ECU will use this questionnaire and past votes, statements and actions on campaign finance issues to guide our process for selecting candidates to endorse.

ECU takes a full and comprehensive approach to rectifying the severe consequences the Citizens United decision has had on our elections. There are many avenues to fixing our broken campaign finance system: Enacting a constitutional amendment to overturn the Citizens United decision, confirming federal judges and Supreme Court Justices who believe political donations do not equate to political free speech, and supporting legislation that will bring full disclosure of and limits to the money flowing into our elections.

Kindly return your completed questionnaire by sending an electronic copy to Jordan Wood at Jordan@endcitizensunited.org. Your answers to this questionnaire as well as any endorsements made by End Citizens United PAC will be released to the public.

YES NO

10. Please share any additional ways you support meaningful campaign finance reform.

There is absolutely too much money in American politics today, and it's hurting our entire system. As I was contemplating this run for office, I was told that I would need to take a year off from work, just to campaign. This was shocking to me, and immediately eliminates a vast majority of the population, making our government not truly representative. After all, how many people have enough savings to survive for a year without work? It is appalling that, once in office, our representatives need to spend half of their time raising money when they should be focused on legislating. And, finally, it is scary to think that our representatives can be bought and sold. Even when transparent, we see the influence that big oil, big pharma, and the NRA have on elected officials' votes.

Citizens United is the biggest contributor to this issue. It has ushered in an unprecedented wave of corporate spending and dark money disguised by shell corporations. I disagree with the Supreme Court's ruling in Citizens United: these bottomless contributions of course influence the way a politician votes. Just look at how big pharma has prevented Congress from taking common-sense steps to lower prescription drug prices. Our government is being manipulated by a very few, very powerful players.

The first step we need to take is to overturn Citizens United. Unfortunately, the same politicians who benefit from unlimited contributions are holding up legislation to return to a more accountable campaign finance system. That's why I admire and support the work that End Citizens United is doing to help counteract the effects of unlimited contributions and by helping to elect politicians who will fight for campaign finance reform, just like I will.
